

ADRIAN SPÖRRI

Interim Executive

Turnaround • Transformation • Operational Excellence

Executive Profile

When manufacturing organizations face demanding transformation or turnaround situations, Adrian Spörri provides the structure, leadership and hands-on execution needed to restore stability and build lasting performance.

With more than 25 years of international experience — including 14 years in senior in-house leadership roles and, since 2023, as an independent interim executive — he combines quality management, operational excellence and organizational transformation to stabilize businesses and leave them measurably stronger than he found them.

Organizations typically engage Adrian when they need immediate leadership during a critical transition, a structured turnaround, or experienced support managing several parallel workstreams without losing control of quality or delivery.
